

THE ART OF GOAL SETTING

The attitude that many people carry, even those in key leadership positions is “Who has time to worry about a vision? That’s a pie in the sky. I’ve got my hands full trying to make a living!”. We are so busy trying to achieve something that we are sure we do not have without knowing what we really want! Or we are so busy trying to do the right things and perhaps even do it for the right reasons, but without applying the right principals, we can still hit the wall, as Stephen Covey put it. Successful people in this world were those who had a vision and set goals.

This course is designed to help participants to become visionary people and to equip them with the knowledge, skills and the right attitude to set balanced goals in all areas of their functions.
